

MEMPHIS OR ATLANTA

LOOKS THAT WAY IN THE SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

NEW YORK AMERICANS GAIN

Won Twice to Boston's Once Yesterday—A Battle of Giants Sure Enough—Will Bartley.

The situation in the Southern League is attracting the attention of all that part of the baseball world that hasn't its eyes riveted on the beautiful New York-Boston race in the American.

Memphis took another badge on New Orleans yesterday by simply tying her opponents while New Orleans went down in a double header to Atlanta and consequently set the Crescent City fans wild with rage by going to third place. This practically puts the fight between Atlanta and Memphis instead of New Orleans and Memphis as it has been for three weeks, yes six weeks past. Memphis is two and a half games ahead of Atlanta.

The season winds up Sunday and the most remarkable season in the history of the Southern League will have been finished. Here it is just four days until the close and yet one of three teams has a chance for the pennant. It is phenomenal.

In the American League New York is gradually strengthening her position and is now three full games ahead of Boston. The New York Nationals will clinch absolutely today or tomorrow the pennant and Matthews and McGinnity will be given their rest prior to the contest for the world's championship. It now looks as if the great metropolis will have two pennant winners and the players will coin literally barrels of money in the World's championship saw off. The American race has never will not be finally settled for some time.

Billie Bartley is pitching against cruel fate. He pitched a no hit game the other day and lost it 2-1; something unheard of. Yesterday he was up against it again and lost a finely pitched game. But Billie will strike in the Southern next year and will soon be faster.

Atlanta Won Both. Atlanta, Sept. 20.—A whirlwind batting rally in the ninth gave the locals the first game.

Payne was invaluable throughout while Whitehead was hit opportunistly in the second, thus making it a double whammy for the locals.

First: Atlanta 100 000 003—1 6 5. New Orleans 110 000 003—3 8 3. Smith and Clarke; Breitenstein and Fox.

Second: Atlanta 000 002 00—2 5 0. New Orleans 000 000 00—0 3 2. Payne and Clarke; Whitehead and Sullivan.

Montgomery 3; Shreveport 2. Montgomery, Sept. 20.—Brandt and Bartley were effective but Montgomery's hitting was more opportunist than the visitors. Score: Montgomery 200 000 018—3 6 2. Shreveport 000 011 000—2 4 0. Brandt and Clarke; Bartley and Grafton.

Birmingham 2; Little Rock 1. Birmingham, Sept. 20.—Birmingham won the game in the first inning. Score: Birmingham 200 000 008—2 3 1. Little Rock 100 000 000—1 3 2. Streib and Matthews; Olin and Anderson.

Tie at Nashville. Nashville, Sept. 20.—With Memphis far in the lead, Nashville set the grand stand wild by tying the game in the seventh inning. Rain caused a delay of 20 minutes, and with the game still a tie it was called after the eighth because of darkness. Hard hitting and electric hitting netted Nashville six runs in the seventh. Score: Nashville 000 200 00—9 11 5. Memphis 000 400 20—9 12 2. German and Knoll; Threlk and Harburt.

Brooklyn 4; Pittsburgh 3. Brooklyn, Sept. 20.—The Pittsburgh nationals lost one game here this afternoon to Brooklyn and the second was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of rain with the score tied. Score:

TIBETAN TREATY IS UNDER FIRE

CLAIM OF ENGLISH PERFDY IS STRONGLY MADE AT ST. PETERSBURG.

RUSSIA LODGES GENERAL PROTEST

Claims that Contract Was Forced on Tibetans at a Time When Russia Had Its Hands Full and Could Not Let Go.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 20.—Russia officially maintains that Great Britain has broken faith in the matter of the Tibetan treaty and Ambassador Benckendorff has been instructed to lodge a general protest at the British foreign office. According to the Russian view as explained to the Associated Press, Great Britain's pledge to Russia regarding the scope of the expedition only contemplated the regulation of trade between India and Tibet and she disclaimed any purpose to meddle with the internal or political affairs of the country. Instead of so doing, Russia claims that a treaty was forced upon the Tibetans which goes much further creating a virtual protectorate over the country. More is a restriction of the sovereignty of China, inasmuch as while recognizing the sovereignty of China by requiring her ratification, the treaty once ratified, transfers the sovereignty to Great Britain by compelling Tibet to consult Great Britain in its dealing with other powers. This is considered to be almost directly at Russia. The protest lodged in London doubtless will be followed up with one at Peking against the ratification of the treaty.

Not in Position to Quarrel. Great Britain is believed here to justify her action on the ground that she only agreed to confine herself to certain specified limits contained in the assurance given to Russia if the Tibetans did not oppose the British expedition. As a matter of fact, little hope is entertained in official circles here that Russian protests will be heeded either by Great Britain or China as Russia is not in a position to make an issue.

Britain's Opportunity. The general feeling is that Great Britain has profited by Russia's preoccupation in the war to make her position in Tibet secure. Therefore the early importance of the protest at this time is to serve notice that Russia does not require in Great Britain's Tibetan program and that she will hold herself at liberty to reopen the question when her hands are made free.

COTTON-MILLS SITUATION. Buying of Raw Material by Mills Thought to Mean Resumption. Fall River, Mass., Sept. 20.—The first intimation of a settlement of the strike in the cotton mills in this city, which began July 25, came today when it became known that one of the manufacturers here had bought a large quantity of raw material, to be delivered the latter part of October, and that other manufacturers were trying to place similar orders. It is the general belief that any settlement of the strike within the next two or three weeks will be in favor of the operators.

The strikers still express their determination not to return to work under the wage reduction of 12 1/2 per cent, which was the cause of the strike.

LIVE STOCK

The International Exposition. The International Live Stock Exposition will be held at the Union Stock yards from November 26 to December 3d. The importance of this exposition to the live stock interests of both the United States and the Dominion of Canada can hardly be overestimated. The writer has been told by Canadians that many of the live stock breeders on that side of the line make more ado over this show than do the Americans themselves. This, if so, is so because the Canadians appreciate the value of education in the matters of live stock raising. They realize that the exposition is an instructor in the matter of breeding stock, as well as of feeding stock. It makes it possible for live stock raisers from all parts of the country and of the continent to meet each other and compare notes. Not only this, but it shows the live stock raised in the different sections of the country and under different modes of treatment. Next to the Canadians, the people of the Northwest show perhaps the greatest interest in this event, for they realize that live stock raising is to be the great industry of their part of the country, or, at least, a sort of cornerstone of agriculture there. The cost of attending the exposition is not great, and a week spent in attendance on the show is one of the best paying weeks that a man can record in his summary of the year's work. The pulse of the whole live stock industry is felt here, and truths are impressed on the visitor that he gets in no other way.

The Feed of the Cow. There are few of our farmers that follow the practice of feeding slops to the cows, as is the case in the towns and cities where cows have little pasturage. Nevertheless many of our cows have access to weeds and other herbage that taints the milk in one way or another. Some say the flavor goes through the cow and others say that it is blown to the milk on milking. But in whatever way it comes it is found in the milk at milking time and later in the butter. The cows that have to depend on dry pastures at this time of year are the ones that are most apt to eat foul-smelling weeds. If they have fresh cornstalks or other cut feed they will not trouble the weeds. But most of our farm cows are given no attention of this kind and simply have to make their living from the pastures the best they may. Wild onions have an oil that certainly passes through the cow into the milk and the same is said to be the case with wild garlic. If this is so regarding these two weeds that cows eat, may it not be so with some of the other weeds they eat, of which we know less than of these two. The weedy taste in milk is very obnoxious to some of the consumers of milk. If the farmer has not sheep enough to keep the weeds out of the pasture it will pay to attack them with a scythe.

Future Sheep Supply. The feeders of sheep are concerned in the supply of that animal, especially those that are engaged in the feeding of sheep for the final market. At the present time the great source of supply is the western range. But can that continue to supply the demand for sheep to feed in our feed lots in the corn belt? The answer must be a negative one. The ranges are now producing all the sheep they are likely to produce, but the corn belt is not producing all the corn it is able to produce. The improvements in corn culture and in corn seed enormously increase the volume of this kind of food that can be produced yearly and we shall see greater improvements in the years to come. This corn must be for a long time yet used as the finishing food for stock including the sheep. More sheep will be demanded in the future both by the consumers and by the finishers. It is evident that we must raise more sheep on the farms east of the Great Father of Waters.

Irish Creameries Increasing. The number of creameries in Ireland is rapidly increasing. The increase is among both the proprietary and the co-operative. Of the former there are now 300 and of the latter 200. Last year these 500 creameries received over eighty million gallons of milk and produced over fourteen thousand tons of butter. Most of this found a ready market in various parts of Great Britain. The quality of the butter from these creameries shows a tendency to improve in quality, which it must do, as it is brought into sharp competition with the butter from Denmark and from Canada, both of which makes are high in quality. These creameries make the production of Irish butter easy, and this has a high reputation in the English market.

The Sheep Pasture. The sheep pasture must be sometimes given a rest from sheep or account of the deposit of the eggs of intestinal worms of sheep. In some old pastures these eggs are said to be spread by the millions. This is particularly dangerous ground to be fed over by young lambs. The man that has more than one pasture will find himself in an advantageous position in case of trouble with intestinal worms arising. He can then simply change his sheep from one pasture to the other. Such a change is not necessary unless there are signs of the presence of such worms among the sheep.

Disraeli On His Marriage. Disraeli, atographs, formerly among the scarcest, threaten to glut the market. At least a dozen have been put into the hands of the auctioneers and dealers during the last few days.

One of the number has that touch of nature which makes men kin. It is a letter written to announce his marriage, and is addressed to his uncle, Mr. Basset, the parliamentary lawyer. "I rather think," he says, "that you will not be so much surprised as I am, that I am going to be married, and you can even hazard a conjecture as to the lady who is about to make me a happy man."

Alas, there is no footnote to say whether and to what extent the nephew "drew" his uncle. A wedding present was likely to be acceptable enough to Disraeli at that date, when he was still in the hands of his compatriots—the Jews; and though his uncle was a man of means, he was also a man of prejudices, and of these his nephew had the full disadvantage.—London Daily Chronicle.

Death Was a Suggested Subject. Tom Johnson of Cleveland was spending a few weeks at a small hotel near Lake Michigan. Accommodations had been engaged in advance, but the service was not such as he had expected. At each meal Mr. Johnson introduced the subject of death. Scarcely a day passed without his discussing the morbid theme that it had a depressing effect on the other guests.

"Can't you speak on anything else but death?" asked the landlord in desperation.

"Conversation is prompted by surroundings," explained the n. y.

"But there are no grave-yones nor leashes here," protested the landlord, swinging his arms toward the beautiful lake. "Neither is there crepe on the door."

"No," said Mr. Johnson, painfully; "but if you wanted crepe and couldn't get it, wouldn't this tablecloth make a good substitute?"—Portland Oregonian.

Young Parsees Leave Sect. The Parsees, or Zoroastrians, community of Bombay, who number under 25,000 in all, are threatened with disintegration by western and Christian influences. Their wealthy young men visit and reside in London, Paris and other European cities, where they frequently take to themselves European wives. Three cases have just occurred of Parsees thus marrying white women, one marrying a Jewess and one, a French woman. There are great dissensions among the Parsees in India as to whether the non-Parsee wives should be received as proselytes. —London Globe.

The Dog in Parliament. Only one dog has ever had the audacity to enter the English parliament during the proceedings. A hundred years ago the lords were thrown into consternation by a dog's entry. Lord North was addressing the house and the dog promptly proceeded to bark furiously at him. Lord North, considerably upset, moved that the member who was interrupting him should be suspended. Thereupon the dog was driven out and suspended in such a manner that he never interrupted again.—London Answers Automobile Fishing Boats. Fishermen on the Lake of Neuchatel are using automobile boats. They are driven by a benzine motor and lighted by electricity. They are fast-tuned, glide noiselessly over the water, do not frighten the fish and are a great success.

No Meat at Breakfast. Meat is seldom seen on the breakfast table in Austria and Germany, nor is much use made of the prepared cereals, so popular in America. Wheat rolls and rye bread form the staple breakfast food.

Needs Them in His Business. If the man you are with is less than 40 years old, and you ask him for a cigarette, he will generally take a little bottle out of his pocket and mechanically give you one.—Somerville Journal.

ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND

seemed by any man who was there as a privilege and a great honor. I beg to tender my sincere thanks for it to you personally, and to the historic body you represent.

Over twenty years ago Gen. Sherman wrote me a similar invitation on behalf of the Army of the Tennessee. It happened that I was just going to Europe for a considerable absence and was thus compelled to forego the opportunity but in expressing regret, I ventured to tell Gen. Sherman that if ever I should be able to meet such a call, I should hope to have the Army of the Cumberland for an audience.

The meeting comes at an auspicious time when my position as a director of the Associated Press requires attendance for our annual meeting in New York. Nothing but such a clear duty would prevent me from accepting your invitation.

I believe me, with renewed thanks and regards.

Very sincerely yours, WHITECLAW REID.

A burst of cheers followed the reading of the letter.

For the first time in the history of the society, a private, Orlando M. Somers, of Indiana, delivered the annual address.

The experience shared with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."
